Frequently Asked Questions

Prerequisites:

- For online iterations, students must have a computer issued by the Federal, State, Local, Tribal or Territorial government. No privately-owned devices are authorizing for accessing IABC course materials.

- Computers must have MS Windows operating system, a web browser, secure internet connection, and a dedicated telephone line that can be used without interruption and where they will not be overheard.

- Students must be able to use the Adobe Connect virtual meeting platform in online iterations.

Frequently Asked Questions

1) I've got plans to be out for a few hours/days during the course, is that going to be a problem?

Answer: Yes, but may be manageable depending on how long and when you will be out. If you know the dates/times, contact the instructor and see how that will impact your attendance in the course. Missing too much time is grounds for dismissal.

2) What are the requirements to attend the course?

Answer: Other than the prerequisites listed above, there are no requirements in terms of experience or prior training. This class is for all-source intelligence analysts so those in that job role are given priority.

3) Should I take IABC or BITAC or both?

Answer: These have the same material taught in different ways—take one or the other, not both.

4) I'm a criminal analyst, not an intelligence analyst - can I take the course?

Answer: Yes - criminal analysts are still all source analysts and the standards taught include law enforcement standards.

5. I am an analyst, should I also take IOS?

Answer: No, IOS is for non-analysts. It is an overview but does not teach any analytic skills but IABC/BITAC include IOS information so you will not miss out!
